VERSE

Chords ringing out

This is the crossing of words
This is the culmination of losses
This is the space in between
This is where it all begins

Strumming begins

We were told that we are the writers of history, of our history
But who are the ones holding the pen inscribing our story

With voices made of diamond
We speak in common carbon
For the profit of some corporate nightmare machine

It's high time to break your chains
Throw caution to the wind and reclaim
Some value for ourselves, before long

With a body wrought from stone
Heart of iron, a corroding ore
Choking on diamond, choking on diamond

Maybe I'm sick
Convince me your not
For how can medicine exist
In this space that love forgot

Where faceless trolls hold sway on world views in the evening news
And all we breathe is diamond

DIAMOND BREATH

Chorus

Stare down the barrel with nought to lose
Maybe someone will shout enough is enough
Enough is enough

Weigh anchor, while the ship is sinking
Maybe someone will shout enough is enough
Enough is Enough

Stare down the barrel with nought to lose
Maybe someone will shout enough is enough
Enough is enough

Stand stock still and watch it all come crumbling down
Maybe someone will shout enough is enough
Enough is enough, Enough is enough, Is enough.
